

ORGANISE!

Will Brexit affect your rights at work?

SERTUC and the CGTP have organised a half-day workshop for Portuguese workers so you can:

- Understand your rights at work in the UK
- Join a trade union
- Participate in the union in your workplace
- Understand labour and social European Union rights
- Know where to go to get support

Keep the date!

Tuesday 21 March 2017
3pm to 7pm

At Congress House
Great Russell Street
London WC1B 3LS

Nearest Tube: Tottenham Court Road

All workers of Portuguese or lusophone heritage are welcome and interpretation in Portuguese/English will be provided.

Are you getting your rights at work?

People from Portugal and Portuguese-speaking countries have been working in London and the East of England for decades. During this period you have faced many challenges regarding social and labour integration.

We want to try and address these and other challenges you have faced whilst living in the UK so that you feel you are equal as workers and citizens.

It is also about the trade union movement understanding your needs so we know how best to represent you whilst working in the UK. Your concerns, problems and preoccupations are also ours.

Trade unions fight for all workers irrespective of race, ethnicity or colour bringing people together from across society.

Trade unions are fighting and winning better conditions for all organised workers. Decent work is a human right. Trade unions seek to give workers like you a voice on matters that affect you at work. By standing together and campaigning together we can win decent working conditions for you all.
